TRANSFER PAYMENTS
INTRODUCTION

Transfer payments are payments to persons for which they do not render services in the current period. As a component of personal income, they are payments by government and business to individuals and nonprofit institutions. Although most of transfer payments are made in cash, they also include medicare, medicaid and food stamps. At the State level, approximately 90 percent of total transfer payments are estimated on the basis of directly reported data. The remaining 10 percent are estimated on the basis of indirect, but generally reliable, data.

Payments to individuals are divided into several groups with program detail for some of the groups. The groups are retirement and disability insurance benefit payments, medical payments, income maintenance benefit payments, unemployment insurance benefit payments, veterans benefit payments, federal education and training assistance payments (other than for veterans), other government payments, and payments by business. Payments to nonprofit institutions are divided into federal government payments, State and local government payments, and business payments (corporate gifts).

The information contained in this publication comes from the transfer payments estimates computed by the United States Bureau of Economic Analysis. Included are the data for the state of Mississippi, it's MSA's, and it's counties. The time period covered extends from 1996 through 2001. This publication supersedes, in part, the publication which contained data for 1995 through 2000. Any information for 1996 and later years should be obtained from this publication due to revisions made by BEA.

It is hoped that this publication will prove useful to economic planners and other user groups in our state. This information will also be available on the Internet, see address below. Other inquiries or requests for additional copies should be directed to:
